

Latinx Digital Media Virtual Seminar Series Winter 2021

🕒 Thursdays 12-1 PM CT - Zoom

Hernan Galperin (University of Southern California)

Associate Professor and Director, Annenberg Research Network on International Communication,
Annenberg School for Communication

-
January 14

Mary Beltrán (University of Texas at Austin)

Associate Professor, Radio-
Television-Film; Former Founding
Director, Latino Media Arts & Studies Program

-
February 4

Yeidy M. Rivero (University of Michigan-Ann Arbor)

Professor and Chair, Department of Film, Television, and Media; Faculty in the Department of American Culture and the Latina/o Studies Program

-
February 25

Silvio Waisbord (George Washington University)

Professor and Director, School of Media and Public Affairs

-
March 18

Sebastián Valenzuela (Pontificia Universidad Católica de Chile)

Associate Professor, School of Communications; Associate Researcher, Millennium Institute for Foundational Research on Data

-
January 21

Jillian Báez (City University of New York)

Associate Professor, Africana and Puerto Rican/Latino Studies,
Hunter College; Doctoral Faculty,
Women's and Gender Studies,
CUNY Graduate Center

-
February 11

Clemencia Rodríguez (Temple University)

Professor, Department of Media
Studies and Production, Klein
College of Media and Communication

-
March 4

Arcelia Gutiérrez (University of Kentucky)

Assistant Professor of Latinx Studies, Department of Hispanic
Studies

-
January 28

Mari Castañeda (University of Massachusetts Amherst)

Dean, Commonwealth Honors College; Professor, Department of Communication

-
February 18

Víctor García-Perdomo (Universidad de La Sabana)

Associate Professor, School of Communication

-
March 11

Learn more at: <https://ldm.soc.northwestern/seminar>

This quarter the seminar series is co-sponsored by the Alice Kaplan Institute for the Humanities, the Buffett Institute for Global Affairs, the Center for Global Culture and Communication, the Latin American and Caribbean Studies Program, and the Latina and Latino Studies Program.